Exchange & Broker's Office,

Georgetown, District of Columbia.
ROMULUS RIGGS,
AT his office, next door below Crawford's tavern, Bridge-st. Georgetown, will exchange all kinds of Bank Notes on the most reasonable terms.—All persons who may have notes on the banks of North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia, would do well to call on him, as he is largely in the purchase of that kind of money, and will take it on the most reasonable terms.—Persons travelling to the Western Country may at all times get the Bank Notes of the Western Banks at a fair discount, by calling at his Office. For the information of all persons throughout the U. States, R. Riggs makes it known, that all of the Banks of the District of Columbia pay their notes on demand in specie; and it would be much to the advantage of the merchants, and trading to the South and west, to encourage the circulation of the Notes of the Banks of Georgetown, Washington and Alexandria, as it will at all times answer for remittances to the large commercial and Atlantic towns;—all persons emigrating or travelling to the westward should be very particular and take the Notes of the Banks of the District of Columbia, as they will find them the most current, there being no counterfeits on the District Banks. The Merchants' Bank of Alexandria has long since failed—all persons should be on their guard, as they will be imposed on. August 18

Valuable Family Medicines.

JUST received direct from the proprietors, the following valuable Medicines, all of which have been in use for a number of years past, in almost every part of the United States; have been highly patronised by people of the first respectability; and approved by those who have had occasion to make use of them, for the cure of those disorders, for which they are severally calculated.

Dr. Lee's Genuine (Windham) Bilious Pills,

Universally known and used throughout the United States as a Family Medicine. The fame of these pills has become so great that many have attempted to counterfeit them—to guard against this, the proprietors have procured a Stereotype Label, and each box of Genuine Lee's Pills will hereafter be enclosed in one of these labels, with these words on the sides: "Lee's Genuine Windham Billious Pills," and on the end of the Label the words, "Samuel Lee, patentee, &c. I. Thompson, agent, joint proprietor," &c. and should any be offered for sale without said Label on them, the purchaser may be apprised that they are counterfeit.

Dr. Thompson's Celebrated Eye-Water:

For the cure of inflamed and sore eyes of almost every description. This valuable preparation comes highly recommended from the most respectable sources. Price 50 and 25 cents a bottle.

Dr. Rawson's Genuine Itch Ointment:

A certain and safe cure for that disagreeable complaint, as well as other irruptions of the skin. Price 37½ cents a box.

Dr. Rawson's Anti-Bilious and Stomachic Bitters,

For weakly and infirm constitutions. Price 37½ cents a box.

Hinckley's Infallible Remedy for the Piles,

A most valuable medicine. Price 50 cents a box.

Specific Drops for the Tooth Ache,

Which in almost every case, gives instant relief, in that distressing complaint. Price 37½ cents a bottle.

Cooley's Vegetable Elixir, for Coughs, Asthmas, Consumptions, &c.

A very valuable medicine in those complaints. Price 50 cents a bottle.

[From late English papers received at the office of the Savannah Republican.]

London, Jan. 28.

IMPORTANT INTELLIGENCE FROM SPAIN.

At a late hour last night French papers arrived to the 25th inst. They bring accounts of some disturbances having broken out at Valencia in Spain. The governor of the place, gen. Elio, having been informed of the haunts of the conspirators, went to their house, accompanied by his guards. He found them assembled, and as they were unable to give any satisfactory reason for their secret meeting, he was proceeding to seize their persons, when he received the blow of a dagger in his arm.—He instantly laid the offender dead at his feet by a thrust of his word. Whether the rest escaped is not mentioned; but the governor is reported to have succeeded in preventing any tumult in the city. The French chambers have lately had no public sitting. The proposition of M. Veneilh de Puyraseau, for legalizing marriages between brothers and sisters-in-law, was rejected in the last secret committee of the chamber. Couriers have lately been dispatched from Paris to Rome, charged with communications of importance; but whether they relate to the affairs of the French church or the coronation of Louis XVIII is at present not ascertained. A pension of twenty thousand francs has been granted to the ex-minister of Finance, count Corvetto, in recompense for the "distinguished services" which he rendered in that department. General Sarrazin has appealed from the indictment preferred against him by the royal court for polygamy. An Antwerp journal says, that M. Cauchois Lemaire has returned to France. The three ship loads of cannon and bullets purchased by Ismael Gibraltar for the service of the Pacha of Egypt, and intended to be used in the Wechabite war, are now ready to supply the arsenals and strong places in Egypt. Ismael, it seems, derives his surname in consequence of a sea fight, in which one of his ancestors defeated, with a small squadron, an enemy's fleet near that fortress; in consequence of which the emperor Amurath permitted his family to take that surname, and carry the arms of the fortress in their armorial bearings. The French five per cents, (as we stated the day before yesterday) left off on Friday at 68f 20c.—On Saturday they were at 68f 60c at which price (according to private accounts received yesterday) they continued on Monday.

We have received the Paris papers of Sunday and Monday last, and subjoin the only extracts from them which are of any interest. The funds it will be seen, continue to rise.

Paris, January 25.

The office of sub-secretary of state no longer exists in any ministerial department.

It was erroneously announced in a Journal of yesterday, that the countess of Gothland (queen of Sweden) is ill. The countess goes out every day, and enjoys excellent health. [Journal de Paris.

To-morrow (Tuesday) there will be a sitting of the chamber of peers, for the discussion of the proposition of the duke de Levis, relative to the abolition of the droit d' aupaine.

The widow of marshal Moreau, in homage to the king of Sweden, has presented to him the sword of her late husband.

On the occasion of the aniversary of the 21st January, his majesty has pardoned seven individuals detained at Paris on different convictions, of which five were for seditious expressions.

Several changes have been made among the prefects of departments:—M. Joseph D'Estourmel, prefect of La Sarte, replaces M. de Breteuil, prefect of Chartres; M. Pepin de Bellisle, prefect of Dordogne, replaces M. D'Estourmel; M. de Casteja, prefect of Haut Rhin, replaces M. de Baren, prefect of Haut Vienne; M. Sers, subprefect of Wissembourg, is appointed prefect of Haut Rhin; and Paulze d'Ivry, master of requests, is appointed prefect of L'Ardeche, in the room of M. Dindy.

General Excelmans is arrived at Paris.

French Funds, January 25.—Five per cent 68f. 60c.

Madrid, January 12.

The general of Cordeliers, the reverend father Cyrille, has received orders to quit the capital. He came from Brazil at the same time as the late queen. There are several conjectures as to the causes of his disgrace. There are upwards of twenty thousand monks, of whom he is nearly the absolute chief.

Several monks are stated to have joined the armed bands in the Sierra Morena.

It is said that don Pedro Cevallos will, for the sixth or seventh time, be recalled to the ministry for foreign affairs.

Christiana, January 8.

We learn from Gottenburg, that there were never so many whales seen on that coast, as at this moment. Their appearance is attributed to a revolution of the polar ices.

The following confirmation of the destruction of Commodore Aury's fleet at Old Providence, and the distressed situation of the troops at that place, naked and in a state of starvation, is copied from the Kingston (Jam.) Chronicle of February 1.

The following statement has been handed to us for publication, and we are assured that the authenticity of the relation is indisputable—we therefore feel it our duty to give it a place:

"The following are the names of the officers carried off since the 21st September last by the Fever and Ague, so prevalent at Old Providence. Colonels Irving and Henry, captain Arnold, assistant commissary Best, lieutenants Smith, Robertson, Moore and Burke, Cannon of Chili's nephew, Dr. Clark and many more, whose names are not recollected, and which does not include a very great number of unfortunate seamen who were considerably exposed, constantly lying about in the bushes with no covering excepting the clothes on them. Very little medical aid was afforded them—in fact no medicine could be procured, and from the very great scarcity of provisions no nourishment could be obtained for them. One hundred and seven British soldiers and seamen have deserted, and the greater part of them went so far as to venture themselves in small canoes, hardly fit to contain more than 4 or 5, trusting themselves to the ocean. Many more would have followed, had not the remaining boats been so guarded as to prevent the possibility of an escape.

An English seaman, named Nelson, late of the British navy, was hung for expressing his discontent—the unfortunate man knew nothing of his sentence, until brought to the place of execution, where he requested permission to write his friends in London and to be allowed time to say his prayers—the former was refused him, and the latter request was after some hesitation granted. Neither officers or soldiers have received pay for upwards of eighteen months, several of whom are almost in a state of nakedness. On the Island there are two Camps, one consisting of French, the other of English and Americans; the former fare considerably best, which is attributed to the partiality of their General, and the Commissary general, a Mulatto, being of that country. Previous to the sailing of the Shearwater, some of the English officers had not received any rations for five days. Several runaway negroes are at Old Providence from this Island, and one, a Sambo of the name of Thomas, belonging to Pedro estate, Morant Bay, has been recognized by a gentleman there, he says that before leaving Jamaica, he received an advance of eight dollars from an officer.

It is stated that the whole of Aury's squadron was on shore at Old Providence, except the Congress, which was so much injured as to be unseaworthy.

All the British officers have left Providence in disgust, and several English seamen are left behind only for want of opportunity to get away—poor wretches,—they are much to be pitied, as they were completely allured away, and are in a most deplorable state. The officers attribute the great desertion in part to the tyranny of Admiral Boguie, a man destitute of humanity, and who was formerly a barber at St. Thomas—he possesses a most tyranical disposition, and the sailors hold him in such dread, that on the 21st Nov. last, there were upwards of one hundred men known to be absent in the bushes; at the present moment, in consequence of the sickly state of the garrison, not more than 50 men can be mustered capable of service."

From the Boston Palladium of March 25.

FROM INDIA.

By the ship Saratoga, captain Leach, from Calcutta bound to Boston, (put into Portsmouth) we have received papers to the 4th Nov.

Calcutta, 4th Nov.

The first division of the Volunteers, destined for Ceylon, embarked yesterday, when the ships dropped down the river.—The intelligence from Ceylon continues every day, more and more favorable; and no doubts are now entertained of the tranquility of the Island having been re-established. On the arrival of the Volunteers, the 20th reg. now at Ceylon, will embark for Prince of Wales' Island, Bencoolen, &c. Rumors are abroad, that another destination, having some important political ends in view, awaits the Marine regiment.

We have nothing to offer our readers of any importance, in the way of intelligence from central India. The returning tranquility of the Provinces, so lately the seat of rapine and war, is fortunately taking away the interest we once felt, in accounts from that part of the country; and leaves the journalist little else to do, than record the sense of the wisdom and vigor of the policy, whose good fruits appear in the barrenness of its own columns.

The scarcity in the money market, of Calcutta continues still to be felt. Is it not worth enquiring into, how far a commercial Bank, on a large and liberal scale of accommodation, would tend to obviate evils, arising from the circulating medium being too limited for the trading operations, which the spirit of mercantile speculation has created.

MIRACULOUS ESCAPE!

The editor of the Savannah Republican has been politely furnished with the following extract from the Journal of capt. Jayne of the ship Oglethorpe, which sailed from this port on the 16th of Dec. last, for Liverpool, detailing the particulars of a serious accident by lightning, on the 27th Dec. 11 days after having discharged her pilot:—

"Saturday, Dec. 27, 1818,—These 24 hours commenced with fresh breezes and squally; at 2 P. M. our mainmast was struck with lightening; in about 10 minutes, found the ship to be on fire; called all hands, took in all sail but the close reef main-topsail, and laid the ship too, with her head to the south; all hands now employed clearing out the steerage, if possible, to get at the fire; got up the small bower cable, and many other things, in order to break out cotton, which we found very difficult, to do. At 3 o'clock sent a man aloft to look out, who returned in a few minutes and saw nothing; we then commenced to hoist out cotton on deck. At ½ past 3 o'clock, was so stifled with smoke we were obliged to retreat from between decks—at this time it appeared almost impossible to save the ship—shut the cabin, gangway, and steerage hatch. All communication with the cabin was prevented by smoke. Called all hands aft, and told them they must be collected and now prepare the boat to leave the ship. Sent a man aloft who descried a sail apparently standing down for us; set our ensign, union down, at the main-topgallant mast head, it blowing a gale accompanied with heavy rain. At half past 4 the boat was ready for hoisting out, with some provisions, compass, charts, quadrant and many little things that would be useful. We now assembled together on the quarter deck, as then it appeared for the last time to consult. The crew were very steady and executed their orders promptly. The decks, in a line directly across the ship, abaft the pump-well now became so heated that the pitch began to ooze out from the seams of the decks. We supposed from appearances that the plank was nearly burnt through—suggested at this time, the only and last resort, to cut holes through the deck and pour water down, in which we were fortunate enough to succeed in. From side to side, we found from the upper to the lower deck the ship entirely in flames; and it was with the greatest difficulty we could prevent it from communicating on deck through the holes. At 5, we now perceived, the fire had abated in some measure.—On the larboard side, it being to leeward, the water had run to more advantage. We then got the ship before the wind for a short time; and found that we had cut the holes from side to side directly over the principal line of the fire; being guided by the dryness of the deck and pitch rising from the seams. At half past 5, we opened the steerage hatch, and found in a short time the smoke much abated: we could not, however, as yet endure the smoke, so as to work at the cotton in the steerage—we kept applying water and cutting through the deck. At 6, lay too again, with our head to the south. No man could now remain but a short time in the steerage—by perseverance, however, we came to the cotton that was entirely on fire at half past 6; and by breaking it down, the bagging being burnt off, the smoke arising almost suffocated us; being obliged to pass up in our arms the cotton afire on deck; It blowing a gale at the time, it was with the greatest difficulty we could get the loose cotton overboard, the wind scattering it over the ship fore and aft which was on fire; and a number of bales on fire around and near the ship—indeed she appeared to be enveloped in flames. We were now compelled to come from below, and heave over as fast as possible the cotton that was on fire on the decks; at the same time kept the ship off nearly before the wind to get clear of the cotton on fire, and floating around the ship, which was blowing in streaks in the air. At 7, hove too again, having got the decks clear and the ship free of the cotton on fire around her; commenced again between decks breaking cotton, the fire having gained much during our stay on deck—we could but a few minutes at a time remain near it, being almost strangled with smoke: one man and a boy gave up, who were completely exhausted; and all of us at times were obliged to quit for all. Our situation at this time was distressing indeed. At 8, the smoke had much abated, but the cotton we broke out very much on fire. At 9 we labored with great success, as the smoke lessened; and it was apparent that we had gotten at the worst of the fire.—This gave new life to the crew, and they exerted themselves to much advantage. At half past 9, it was pretty evident we had put the fire out; and had all the cotton between decks overboard. It blew at this time a severe gale, and the ship again being very much exposed from the cotton on fire on deck and afloat; blowing all around her, kept her away for about half an hour, until we lost the cotton on fire.—Took in the close reef main-top-sail, and lay too under the mizen stay-sail with our head to the S.S.W. tried the pumps and found the ship had made no water. The fire being arrested we now took half an hour to refresh ourselves, and return thanks to Almighty Providence for our escape. At half past 10, we again commenced breaking out cotton, until we had a well founded hope that the fire was entirely destroyed We now commenced securing with boards and canvas the holes we had cut thro' the deck.

At 2 A. M. we have the decks as secure as we could make them. The crew being very much exhausted, and some of them almost blind sent them below to rest; except one man. At 8 A. M, rather more moderate—called all hands and set the foresail; and kept her before the wind. On examining about the mainmast we could not perceive that it was injured in the least, or trace any marks where the lightning entered below the deck, or any place where it left the ship. One of the stauntions between decks, is burnt off; one ceiling and about one fourth of a beam, directly across the ship.—The lower deck in one place is burnt through within half an inch. Had the fire communicated to the lower hold, the ship would have been lost. As near as we can judge at present, we suppose from 50 to 60 bags of cotton were hove over board. So ends these 24 hours. Employed all hands picking the loose cotton off the rigging—the blocks being choaked with it fore and aft.—Rainy, thick weather wind west, with a heavy sea; no observation. Since clearing up the decks we find we shall miss about 40 bags of cotton.

ALEXANDRIA:
SATURDAY, APRIL 3, 1819.

USEFUL IDEAS ON BANKING.

I doubt whether among your numerous correspondents there be one whom you receive with so much welcome as myself, or one of half my consequence in the eyes of the world. But it is not in this part of the world, or this age alone, that I am so distinguished; for, from time immemorial I have been the idol of all nations, as well of kings and emperors as their subjects—of popes, cardinals, bishops and parsons as well as their lay proselytes; the penitent, the ascetic, the self-denying monastic—nay, with all his grimace of mortification, the methodist gripe me with claws of steel, and pay the incessant homage of their hearts to my power and beauty. The adventurous mariner crosses the most dangerous oceans, and struggle against the angry billows and howling tempest, in pursuit of me—the most stately domes and palaces are raised by me, and whatever may be considered as magnificent and great, owes its existence to my influence alone. I feed the hungry, clothe the naked, and make the sorrowful heart soon to rejoice. I procure youthful husbands for old maids, and so effectually draw the veil over homely features, as to make them pass for beautiful and lovely; and without my influence, even beauty itself holds but a transient and momentary power.

To me the proudest man will bow his head, bend his voice, and on me bestow his caresses, while he frowns, or sneers with ineffable contempt, on all else who surround him. I am admitted into the most secret cabinets of princes, whose ministers fawn, cringe and prostrate themselves at my feet; I am the patron of the arts and sciences, the author of the most useful discoveries, and finest improvements—since to me the mechanic owes his existence, and the artist looks up for encouragement.

Law, and physic, and divinity would be soon extirpated from the earth, were not their various professors kept alive by me, to whom they look up as the only object of their pursuit—In short, whatever may be the professions of any individual, I am the sole cause and motive of the most shining actions, the most brilliant exploits, and the most heroic accomplishments.

Even the first assemblies of all nations own my influence; I preside in their councils, and direct all their decisions—but notwithstanding all the power I maintain, it is frequently found from experience, that the possession of me does not always secure happiness to my possessor; and such is the ingratitude of mankind, that they frequently employ me in the execution of the vilest purposes.

To obtain me, men sometimes rob the orphan and the widow, and then use me as a shield to protect them from the just punishment of their crimes. The indolent and the lazy pursue me through plunder and rapine; but with these I make but a short stay, and presently step away from them. Some even pursue me through the channels of human blood, and butcher every one that stands in the way between me and them. Every art and cunning is made use of to seduce me to their possession; and such is the folly of mankind, that many, having effectually secured me in their interest, lock me up under bolts and bars without making me in the least instrumental to their peace and happiness.—Some shamefully employ me in the seduction of innocence and virtue, and in the gratification of their unbounded passions, for which they are generally punished by disease and misery.—Some think so little of me, that no sooner are they possessed of me, that one would think them miserable until they got rid of me;—but such people generally bewail their folly to the end of their lives.—In short, I am a blessing or a curse, according to the hands I get into.

The prudent man I supply with all the comforts of this life; but to the libertine and debauchee I prove a real evil. Those who have been so fortunate as to make me their companion should treat me cautiously and gratefully, by employing my interest only in the promotion of honor and virtue, and of the happiness of mankind at large.

Such a man, observing the rules I have here laid down for his conduct, shall never want any of the comforts which can be bestowed by CASH.

THE THEATRE.

"Shakespeare was the child of fancy—Shakespeare was the poet of nature"—and such a one as

"We ne'er shall look upon his like again."

DERMODY.

Those who are at all disposed to applaud merit, and give encouragement to genius, as well as to reward the exertions of a worthy couple, in their endeavors to amuse and delight the public, will have an opportunity this evening, by attending the Theatre, where we behold, as it were, the mirror of nature, and mark the springs which govern and actuate the human mind. The tragedy of Richard the 3d, one of the many diamonds that glitter to the memory of Shakespeare, is to be performed this evening for the benefit of Mr. and Mrs. Legg. The claims of the latter person upon the public are many. From her first appearance upon our boards, she has been a favorite of the town; and we have been frequently struck with the graceful dignity of her performances, and been charmed by her retiring modesty and correct deportment in private life.

The part of Richard is to be performed by a gentleman, to whose histronic powers the public voice has often offered the meed of praise: it is a bold attempt—and confidence bespeaks ability. One hundred and twenty years ago, this play was adapted to the stage, by Colley Cibber, since which time it has stood pre-eminent, and exercised the abilities of the greatest Tragedians. Richard's character is so exquisitely drawn, and the various contending passions of ambition, revenge, pride, fear, and jealousy, are so strikingly presented, as to create great interest, and to keep us on the tip-toe of expectation till we finally rejoice in the overthrow of the tyrant.—Let not the productions of that genius, who gave to "airy nothing a local habitation and a name," be neglected—nor let us be backward in applauding talent, or refrain from patronising those who have tried their best to excite the tear of sympathy, and awaken the smile of approbation.

We hope that a numerous and indulgent audience will not be disappointed—but behold "Richard himself again." Z.

Alex'a. Common Council.

AN ACT.

For raising a revenue for the year one thousand eight hundred and nineteen.

Sec. 1. Be it enacted by the Common Council of Alexandria, in Council assembled, That the following taxes be levied on the people and property of the town, to meet the current expenses of the present year; viz.

On all houses and lots, at the rate of twenty cents on every hundred dollars of their assessed value.

On every male tytheable, one dollar and fifty cents.

On every horse, one dollar.

On every four wheeled riding carriage six dollars.

On every Tavern license, thirty dollars.

On every chair, sulky, or two wheeled riding carriage, three dollars.

On every cart and dray, the wheels of which are less than five inches in the tread, two dollars.

On every waggon, the wheels of which are less than five inches in the tread, four dollars.

On every cow, twenty-five cents.

On every license to sell horses or cattle, twenty-five dollars.

On every male dog five dollars.

On every female dog ten dollars.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted, That to meet the local expenditures of the several wards of the town, the following taxes be levied in addition to the foregoing—that is to say: upon all houses and lots within the "First Ward," at the rate of twelve cents.

Upon all the houses and lots within the "Second Ward," at the rate of twelve cents.

Upon all houses and lots within the "Third Ward," at the rate of twelve cents.

Upon all houses and lots within the "Fourth Ward," at the rate of twenty five cents upon each hundred dollars of their assessed value.

Sec. 4. And be it further enacted, That it shall be the duty of the collectors after the amount shall have been placed in their hands for collection to proceed to collect the aforesaid taxes, and to distress for the same if necessary.

Sec. 4. And be it further enacted, That the collectors before entering upon the duties of their office, shall give bond and good security, payable to the common council of Alexandria, in double the amount of the sum at which the taxes shall be estimated, for the faithful performance of their respective duties, which said bond shall be received and approved of by the mayor; and by him lodged with the clerk of the council for safe keeping.

Sec. 5. And be it further enacted, That no collector heretofore appointed, who has not performed his duty and cancelled his bond given to the corporation, for the faithful performances of the said duties shall again be appointed.

Sec. 6. And be it further enacted, That this act shall be in force from and after the passing thereof.

Passed in council this 29th day of March, 1819. HUGH SMITH, Pres. pro tem.

Approved 30th March, 1819.
JACOB HOFFMAN, Mayor.

Blacking for Boots & Shoes,

Superior to any ever offered to the public.

ROBERT COCHRAN,

No. 48, North Fourth-street, next door to the Green Tree Inn, Philadelphia.

WITH confidence offers to the public, his superior Portable and Liquid blacking, so much admired and approved of, which is manufactured by himself only.

This blacking possesses every desirable quality, being of an oily nature, it preserves the leather perfectly soft to the last, and keeps it from cracking—it is a jet black, affords a most superlative polish, entirely free from any offensive smell, and so clean as not to soil the whitest muslin or any other substance it may chance to run against, and will keep in any climate—it has a peculiar advantage in being put up in a portable manner, and may be packed without possibility of risque, with the nicest clothes or goods. The Portable Blacking is much adapted for gentleman residing or travelling in the country, where materials for making Blacking is not to had, and as for cheapness and elegance, far exceeds any ever imported or manufactured in the union. Where is sold as above, the beautiful Chinese Liquid Blacking, for ladies morocco boots and shoes, which makes the oldest morocco boots or shoes appear the same as when new. Sold wholesale at the manufactory, as above.

N. B. Please observe that each bottle it sealed and signed by the proprietor, to prevent spurious impressions being imposed on the public.

It may be had at the following places in Alexandria.—Dr. Stabler and Richard Woods on Fairfax street,—Dr. Semmes, & Dr. Little's apothecary shops, on King-street.—Isaac Entwisles, shoe factory, and Thomas Mount's factory & Hardware store on King-street. sw2m March 29

Gunston for Sale.

THIS elegant estate is situated on the Potomac, 16 miles below Alexandria—it is bounded on three sides by the Potomac and Pohick creek, and contains nearly 3,000 acres of land, level and fertile, to which are attached six shad and herring fisheries, two of which command the river channel. This land will be laid off in four tracts, so as to have one or more fisheries to each; these tracts will be again divided if requisite. This estate is level and beautifully situated, very fertile, and remarkably healthy. Plaister acts with an effect equal to that of any part of Virginia or Pennsylvania.—I have used 500 bushels in twelve months, and such is its beneficial operation, that were I to keep this land I should considerably increase the quantity. A manufacturing mill is distant about two miles, on a stream navigable for vessels carrying 1200 bushels of wheat, where the Baltimore and Dist. of Columbia prices are given for grain: being bounded on 3 sides by water, a small extent only of fence is necessary to inclose the whole: it would be admirably adapted to grazing. The improvements are a large and very substantial brick mansion, 40 by 70 feet, with every necessary outhouse, three commodious barns, houses for Negroes, and fish houses at each of the fisheries. 120,000 bricks and 1000 bushels of lime are just burnt on the premises. There is a considerable extent of live fence, both useful and ornamental, two orchards of well selected apples and peach, besides an abundance of other choice fruit. More than 150 acres are in clover, 200 in corn, and land is in preparation for sowing 250 bushels of small grain. Any quantity of hay can be cut from the low grounds, some of which (and all might,) have been reclaimed at a trifling expense. The river and creeks, abound with wild fowl, particularly canvass backs, the woods with deer and a variety of other game. Mules, cattle, highly improved sheep, farming utensels and household furniture can be had. The terms of sale will be accommodating. Property in any of the cities, negroes, bank stock, western lands, or lands near the Ridge, will be taken in payment.—Letters must be addressed to me at Pohick Church, Fairfax county, Virginia.

September 4 GEORGE MASON.

Valuable Property for Sale.

THE subscriber is desirious of selling a handsomely situated farm, on Hunting creek, in Fairfax county Virginia, adjoining the Mount Vernon estate and the lands of general Thomson Mason, four miles from Alexandria, containing about 240 acres, 80 of which are in wood—40 to 50 in thriving meadow of clover and timothy—a part of the residue recently seeded with wheat and rye, and clover, last spring—the whole enclosed with a new post and rail fence.—The improvements are, a comfortable and convenient frame dwelling house and kitchen, smoke house, poultry house, granary and stables.—There is on this place a rich and productive garden, and a large body of marsh meadow, from which may be saved annually 100 tons of hay, nearly as nutricious as the best timothy or clover.—With the farm would be sold a number of very valuable horses, cows and sheep; waggon, carts, and a variety of farming utensils and household and kitchen furniture; corn, oats and rye, and 40 tons hay. Also, adjoining the one above described, a farm containing 160 acres, recently enclosed, on which is a brick house, which a trifling expense would render comfortable. The soil is excellent, and a considerable part might be easily converted into meadow.—it would be sold with the other or separately. Also, a number of valuable servants, male and female. To prevent unnecessary application, he would observe, that hey will only be sold to persons residing in the District or its vicinity, and not to be carried from it. The subscriber will also sell the greater part of his household furniture, which is new and handsome. For terms of all or any part of the above property, apply to NOBLET HERBERT, esq. or Vaccine Institution.

THE small pox having appeared in Alexandria, such persons as have been vaccinated by the subscriber are invited to attend at his office, on St. Asaph-street, between Prince and Duke streets, to have their arms examined. Indigent persons are also invited to the same place for the purpose of being vaccinated. The subscriber will attend at his office every day in the week except Sunday, from 7 o'clock until 10 in the morning, for the purpose of receiving them.

He proposes also to be less particular than heretofore in the investigation of their claims to the benefit of the institution, as may respect their indigence and length of residence in town. The subscriber earnestly requests all such citizens as may be acquainted with persons liable to contagion, to send them without delay as above directed, where they will be served effectually and gratuitously.
